DAD IS GROWING OLD, JOHN!

BY J. Q. A. WOOD.

Ah, Dad is growing old John,
His eyes are growing dim,
And years are on his shoulders laid,
A heavy weight for him;
But you and I are young and hale,
And each a stalwart man,
And we must make his load as light
And easy as we can.

He used to take the brunt, John,
At cradle and the plough,
And earned our porridge by the sweat
That trickled from his brow:
Yet never heard we him complain,
Whate'er his toil might be,
Nor wanted e'or a welcome seat
Upon his solid knee.

And when our boy-strength came, John,
And sturdy grew each limb,
He brought us to the yellow field,
To share the toil with him;
But he went foremost in the swath,
Tossing aside the grain.
Just like the plow that heaves the soil.
Or ships that shear the main.

Now we must lead the van, John,
Thro' weather foul and fair,
And let the old man read and doze,
And tilt his easy chair;
And he'll not mind it, John, you know,
At eve to tell us o'er
Those brave old days of British times,
Of Grandad and the War.

I heard you speak of Ma'am, John,
'Tis gospel what you say,
That caring for the like of us
Has turned her head so gray!
Yet, John, I do remember well
When neighbors called her vain,
And when her hair was long and like
A gleaming sheaf of grain.

Her lips were cherry red, John,
Her cheeks were round and fair,
And like a ripened peach it swelled
Against her wavy hair;
Her step fell lightly as the leaf
From off the summer tree,
And all day busy at the wheel
She sang to you and me.

She had a buxom arm, John,
That wielded well the rod
Whene'er, with wilful step, our feet
The path forbidden trod;
But to the heaven of our eye
We never looked in vain,
And evermore our yielding cry
Brought down her tears like rain.

But that is long ago, John,
And we are what we are,
And little heed we, day by day,
Her fading cheek and hair;
Ah, when beneath her faithful breast
The tides no longer stir,
'Tis then, John, that we most shall feel
We had no friend like her.

Sure there can be no harm, John,
Thus speaking softly o'er
The blessed names of those, ere long,
Shall welcome us no more.
Nay!—hide it not—for why should'st thou
An honest tear disown!
Thy heart one day will lighter be,
Remembering it has flown.

For Dad is growing old, John,
His eyes are getting dim,
And Ma'am is trending softly down
The dim descent with him;
But you and I are young and hale,
And each a stalwart man,
And we must make their path as smooth
And level as we can.

THE DRUNKARD'S CURE.

The homœpathists say 'like cures like.' It may be so occasionally. At any rate, doctors cure drunkenness in the military hospitals of Prussia by means of brandy.

Earl Flader was a Rheinland subject of his majesty of Prussia; and Earl, like many others I could mention in Rheinland, as well as out of it, got drunk very often. He drank of the best when he could get it, and whenever he couldn't he drank whatever he could get. Earl Flader was'nt very particular about his drinking, if only there was alcohol in what he drank, and he could get drunk upon it. Water was his aversion, except when used in his watering pot; for Earl was a market gardener.

'I don't know what water is good for,' Earl would often exclaim, 'except for my cabbages.' He was destined to know better one day. Earl was an industrious man when he wasn't drunk, which was far oftener than he was industrious; and so, you see, there couldn't be much said in favor of his industry, upon the whole. Earl was naturally a good-hearted fellow. Even drunkenness had not been able to make him quite dead to shame. He resolved once to do without strong drinks. He kept his resolve; but he was ill. He resolved a second time; and again kept it; but he hadn't any money. So you see the way Earl Flader kept his two resolves wasn't very meritorious on the whole.

'Suppose you could have whatever you might wish for, what would you wish for?' said Franz Muller to Earl one day.

'Rhein-wein and schnaps.'

'And if you could get as much brandy schnaps as you liked, would you ever get tired of it?'

'I think not,' said Earl.

Earl Flader, to whom the words Rhein-wein and brandy schnaps were suggestive began to feel as if he wanted some. So fumbling in his pockets, one after the other, and being a little rich that day, he threw out a thaler, and patting his companion on the shoulder, said, 'come my fine fellow, let's have a glass.'

But Franz made wry faces, and shook his head.

'Zounds! what is this, Franz?' said Earl! 'you would once drink like the best of us.'

'That's when I bought it myself,' said he; 'and could only get it by paying.'

'You're a funny fellow,' said Earl; but I like to be obliging. Here pay for me, if you like; but schnaps I must and will have. I can't do with out it.'

Franz had't any money, which ended the matter; but if his pockets had been full of money the result would have been the same.

'Stop, my friend,' said Earl, 'until next month when your time of soldiering comes, then you'll have as much as you like to drink, for nothing—perhaps even more.'

'Long live the king, then!' said Earl; 'I didn't know he was so liberal.'

'Then you don't know anything about his majesty,' answered Franz; 'but tattoo beats, I must away. Adieu.'

'Adieu, Franz.'

Now it was as Franz said; the time had almost come for Earl to serve as a soldier, and what Franz had said about the King of Russia's liberality warmed Earl's heart to such a degree that living on anticipation, he did a thing he did not think he could have done—went home, and to bed, without schnaps, though he had a thaler in his pocket.

A month soon passes over the heads of all of us, and to Earl Flader it seemed to pass more rapidly than it does to you and me, because he got drunk almost daily, whereas you and I don't get drunk at all, which things all put together come to this —that every moment of drunkenness is a moment stolen from the drunkard's life. The day came, at length, when Earl must doff his gardener's clothes, put on his soldier's attire, learn goose step, handle—not Brown Bess, nor the Minie—but the needle gun; for, of late years, the needle, has other besides tailoring work to do in Prussia. Tailors' needles make holes through men's continuations, but the needles of needle guns help to make holes through men—that is the difference.

Earl was awkward at first—all recruits are. He stooped, he stumbled, he didn't turn out his toes. But the drill sergeant is everywhere a smart fellow; he soon licks awkward recruits into shape; and smarts among the smart is the drill-sergeant of Prussia. Earl not only pleased himself in the end, but also pleased his betters. 'I deserve something to drink; I wonder if they will give me some!' but nothing of that sort was forthcoming.

'I thought you told me a man had nice things given him to drink in this place?' said Earl to Franz one day.

'How can you expect them to give you any until they know you are fond of them?'

'By the great Fritz, I'll show them I am; this very night I'll show them!' said Earl drawing a thaler from his pocket.—He chucked the thaler up in the air and caught it in the palm of his hand as it came down again. 'There my pretty little fellow,' said he to the silver coin, 'look me full in the face once more, for by all that's good to drink in Rheinland, you and I are soon to part company.'

It was rare for Earl to make a resolve and not hold to it in such manner as this.—So he went away to the nearest bibbing place, and bibbed and sipped, and bibbed again, until something got into the place where brains alone should be. Earl was a soldier now, and knew what he might expect if he got to the barracks too late. So when tattoo beat, he ran and fell, then got up and ran again—all of which made him still more drunk than he was before. He arrived at the barracks a little too late, and was duly reported for the same. If he had not been reported, the falling would have told a tale. He was all over mud, and the King of Prussia doesn't allow his soldiers to make themselves muddy for nothing.

Earl went to bed; and in the morning when he awoke, he began to reflect what the consequences of his indiscretion might be.

'Shall I have to ride the sharp-backed horse?' said he to Franz.

'By no means, my friend; on the contrary, having shown what your likings are, you will have brandy schnaps to your heart's content, and all for nothing.'

'You don't say so?'

'I do though.'

Before we acquaint the reader with what next took place, we must describe to him what sort of an animal is the sharp-backed horse. Be it known, then, that the cat-'o-nine-tails is unknown in Prussia—but there are punishments just as bad. One consists in riding astride on a sharp, ridge-like piece of timber, which causes great agony. If you wish to gain a notion of it, seat yourself astride upon a triangular park paling, and stay there until your lesson is complete.

Whilst Franz and Earl were in conversation. Dr. Krauss, the military surgeon arrived, accompanied by the corporal.

'We are going to place you in the hospital,' said Dr. Krauss; 'you case is desperate.'

'In the hospital,' thought Earl, 'why I was never better.'

Dr. Krauss, however, knew best about that.

'You like strong drink?' said the doctor.

Earl meditated, and scratched his ear; but the case was so mysterious that he made no reply.

'Answer me, my man; nobody means to hurt you. You like brandy?'

Earl pleaded guilty to the delicate imputation.

'Come with me, then.'

So the doctor put Earl into a room of the military hospital, all alone; and saying, 'You will be well attended to,' he turned slowly away, locking the door behind him.

Earl wondered what they were going to do with him, and what would come next. He did not wonder long; for the door opened, and in came an orderly with breakfast rations. Mark you what they consisted of—a basin of stirabout, and a loaf of bread! The warden having placed these things on the table, asked Earl if his appetite was good.

'Not particularly.'

'But taste,' said the warder.

Earl tasted the stirabout; it was strong of brandy.

'Delicious!' exclaimed he.

'And the bread'—it was soaked in brandy.

'Delightful!' exclaimed Earl. He thought he had never made so hearty a breakfast in all his life.

'You like it,' said the orderly.

'I should think so!' answered Earl.

'If,' said the orderly, 'you like to drink, I will send you something.'

'What?' demanded Earl.

Earl could hardly reconcile himself to the belief that he had fallen so much in luck's way. 'I know why it is,' said he to himself; 'his Majesty the King, God bless him, likes his champaigne, and likes his schnaps, and he likes his men to do as he does. Let me have some brandy at once,' said Earl.

The orderly disappeared and presently returned, bringing with him an enormous bottle of brandy, and a large horn.

'If you get drunk, a glass might break,' said he addressing Earl. 'This horn cannot break. Drink and enjoy yourself.'

Deep were the potations Earl made that day. Though quite alone, he could not restrain his emotion; he stood up, placed himself in theatrical attitudes, and toasted good King Frederick William so often and so heartily, that before dinner time came he was drunk and floored. On the floor accordingly the orderly found him when he made his next rounds. Earl ate no dinner that day, nor supper either; but when morning arrived, the effects of his debauchery had worn off to such an extent that he was ready for breakfast, composed as on the day before, of stirabout and a loaf of bread, each seasoned with brandy Earl partook of this breakfast heartily; but he nevertheless left some untouched, which was not the case the morning before.

'I fancy it is almost too rich,' thought Earl.

Though the brandy bottle was replenished, and near him, Earl, for some reason or other, partook of the contents so moderately, that neither did he get drunk, as before, nor was his appetite spoiled for dinner.

Up came the orderly with dinner in due time. Dinner as follows:

Soup seasoned with brandy.
Cabbage	"	"
Potatoes	"	"
Boiled meat	"	"
Bread	"	"

'I'm much obliged,' said Earl to the orderly, as he smelt the brandy fumes escaping from his eatables. 'I am much obliged for the doctor's kindness, but this, you see, is rather too rich to go on upon. I'll take my victuals to-day without the brandy, and drink the water afterwards.'

'We don't keep such victuals,' replied the orderly. 'The doctor knows what's best for you to eat, man—you'll like it in time.'

So Earl ate his victuals, and he thought they were not so bad after all.

'If you please,' said Earl, when he had eaten all he could. 'I should like a little water—just a little.'

'We don't keep such a thing,' said the orderly.

'No water?'

'None.'

'Then could I have some brandy-and-water?' asked Earl.

'Yes, I'll bring some mixed in the proportion the doctor thinks right.'

'Please, I would rather mix for myself.'

'You can't do that; the doctor won't let you touch water.'

'Water isn't such a bad thing in its place after all, thought Earl; for by this time his inner man waxed uncomfortably hot, and his blood rushed to and fro, as if it was forced by a hand pump.

Supper—Stirabout and brandy.

Breakfast—Brandy and stirabout.

Dinner—Soup with brandy; cabbage idem; meat idem; bread idem; potatoes idem; brandy, brandy! everything they gave poor Earl to eat and drink steamed and smelt of brandy;

'For heaven's sake let me have a draught of water,' said he, when dinner time on the third day came; 'just one draught of water.'

'No, not a drop.'

'But I shall die—I am on fire—I burn!' roared Earl; 'give me water—water!'

'No, drink your brandy-and-water.'

'I can't—I won't!'

'Well, then, go without.'

Dr. Krauss came on the third day. He felt Earl's pulse, and looked at his tongue, and asked him if he felt better.

'Better!' exclaimed he, 'I am dying by inches! Give me water! one draught of water! Let me out—beat me—put me on the sharp-backed horse—shoot me!' roared he, 'but don't murder me like this!'

'Why, don't you like brandy?' said the doctor, with a grin so malicious that it might have sat on the face of Mephistopholes, without disparagement to his fiendishness.

'Like it? I'll never taste a drop again.'

'Yes, you will,' said the doctor; 'you'll take it for exactly seven days more.' He did; and Earl could never look alcohol in the face afterwards.

And this, reader, is not quite a fiction; for in this way they cure drunkards in the military hospital of Prussia.

A Valid Excuse.

The teachers in the Allegheny schools, in order to prevent the boys from playing truant, require them to state the reason of their absence, immediately upon returning to school. Some of the reasons, or "excuses" as they are called by the boys, are extremely ludicrous, and give rise no little merriment. A case in point is the following:—

A lad aged about seven years, having been absent one afternoon, was called upon next morning, by his teacher, Miss ——, to state the cause of his non-attendance. Bub looked rather sheepishly, hung his head, and made no reply for a moment. This raised the suspicion of the "school marm," and she was determined to bring him up to the scratch.

"Now Bub, just up like a little man, and tell us what kept you away from school." Bub still looked downcast, and stood mutely picking at his fingers ends.

"Come, out with it," said the teacher, "the longer you hesitate the more likely you will be to tell what is not true."

Bub picked up a little courage, and said, "Mother kept me at home."

The teacher, having extorted a beginning, followed it up with—"Well, what did she keep you at home for?"

"To go an errand," cautiously added Bub—evidently fearful that his inquisitive teacher would extort something that he did not wish to divulge.

"To go an errand!—indeed!—and can't you tell me where, and for what purpose you were sent?" The teacher seemed to think that she would have Bub cornered, and still pressed him to a conclusion.

"Where did you say you were sent, son?"

"To Manchester," pitiously answered the boy, who looked the very personification of misery.

"Well, what for—let us have it all," and theacher began to smile, and squint about at the other little uchins, as if to warn them of the danger of playing truant, and making up a falsehood to save their backs from the birch.

"To—to—fetch up something my sister lent to a girl to wear to a party."

"Now, Bub, if you just tell us what that something was, you can then take your seat—but mind to tell the truth."

Bub's tongue rolled from one side of his mouth to the other, his under lip quivered, he opened his eyes wide to keep the tears from jumping out; and very reluctantly muttered, "It was something she put on her back, to make her dress stick out!"

The teacher's curiosity was satisfied; she did not ask the name of the article again, and she had reason to believe that every scholar in the room considered that she had been "sold," as they continued for a long time, to keep up a "tremendous bustle!"

To Young Men.

Some fifty years since, a poor boy, born of poor parents, and fatherless, who had no where to look for elevation or maintenance in life, but to his own dilligent exertions, chanced to be in the Navy Yard, at Brooklyn, and the thought struck him that he would like to enter the Navy. Being of an energetic temperament, with him to think was to act, to desire was to strive. So, going to the proper officer, he applied for admission. The novelty of seeing a lad alone, boldly asking for a place so often secured by political preferences alone, or by the entreaties of influential friends, attracted at once the attention of the officer, and he inquired, "What can you do?" The reply was prompt and decisive, "Anything that any other boy can." He was told to call again in a few days, and leaving, he hastened to tell his mother the step he had taken. She thought the matter merely a whim, and did not suppose it would accomplish anything. But the few days passed, and the place was given to the enterprising lad.

Scarcely in his new position he began to show marks of genius and aptitude which outdid his associates, and step by step the baker's boy rose in influence and rank. His aim was high, his courage undaunted, his perseverance unfailing; and to-day he stands among the highest in rank and the most influential in power of the "great ones" who compose the United States Navy. Such, in brief, is the career of Wm. L. Hudson, Commander of the U. S. Steamer Niagara, whose arrival at Trinity Bay caused a greater thrill of enthusiastic pleasure to swell American hearts, than any event since the declaration of Independance.—L. I. Farmer.

A Good Anecdote.

The following conversation was overheard among 'the Volunteers of the Rio Grande.' Scene, night. Two volunteers wrapped in blankets, and half buried in mud:

Volunteer 1st.—'Jim, how come you to volunteer?'

Volunteer 2d —' Why Bob, you see I have no wife to care a red cent for me, and so I volunteered; and besides, I like war! Now tell me how you came out here.

Volunteer 1st.—' Why the fact is, you know, I—I have got a wife, and so I came out here because I like peace!'

Hereupon both the volunteers turned over in their blankets got a new plastering of mud, and went to sleep.

TOUGH STORIES.—One editor, a friend at our elbow, says that there is a piece of road, not two miles from here, so narrow that when two teams meet, they have both to get over the fence before either can pass.

Another says: A Californian writes that they have fire flies so large that they use them to cook by. They set the kettles on their hind legs, which are bent for the purpose like pot-hooks.

A third says: There is a journeyman tailor in Boston whose nose is so red that he can sew the finest work on the darkest night, with no other light than that afforded by his flaming proboscis. His head is quite bald from the effects of carrying building material in his hat.

Douglas Deposed.—The administration party appear determined to carry the war of extermination into Africa. One of the latest, most contemptible and superlatively small transactions in the way of venting its spleen, has been manifested by the Democratic members of the U. S. Senate, in removing Stephen A. Douglas from the Chairmanship of the Committee on Territories, and assigning his place to that rampant Lecomptonite, Green, of Mo., whose zeal for the passage of that bill of abomination, styled Lecompton, during the last session, gave him a bad eminence on the administration benches. This persecution must undoubtedly strengthen Mr. Douglas position among the country people. It will create sympathy in his favor, no matter how the public may have been inclined to regard his course, and will prove to the Lecomptonites an invention which will return to plague the inventors, without securing to them any advantages.

Dr. Coggswell's Antiphlogistic Salt.—We learn from the Philadelphia Daily News, that D. C. Taylor, Esq., formerly of the Neptune Insurance Company, of that city, has accepted the agency for this celebrated Remedy in N. J., Pa., Del., Md., Va., and N. C. This is the prescription of an eminent physician and well worthy the attention of all physicians and those afflicted with inflamatory diseases. It strikes at the source of all inflamation by surely and speedily equalising the circulation. It is highly recommended by editors, physicians and others, and the certificates of cure are perfectly enthusiastic. The descriptive circulars should be read by all, and let every one afflicted try, and those not sick remember the new Medical Salt. By reference to the advertisement in our columns, it may be seen where this valuable medicine is for sale.

Speaker of the Senate.—The Pennsylvania Argus states that Hon. Jacob Turney, heretofore considered a prominent candidate for Speaker of the Senate, will not be a candidate under any circumstances, but will use his influence to secure the election of Hon. John Cresswell, of this county, who was elected Speaker at the close of the last session. All right, say we. It would give us pleasure to record the election of Mr. Cresswell, believing as we do, that he would make a competent, faithful and impartial officer. He certainly deserves this mark of distinction for his untiring exertions in favor of his party.

Molasses a Preventative against Typhoid Fever.—The Abingdon Virginian, in noticing the fact that Typhoid Fever prevails, and is generally fatal, in some parts of Tennessee, states that he has been informed by a physician, who has had several years experience in treating the disease, that those families who use molasses daily, are rarely attacked with the fever. Whether, in reality, molasses had anything to do with preventing those families who used it from taking the disease, it is hard to determine, nevertheless, it would not be a hard matter to give it a trial, as it will do no harm to eat it.

State Treasurer.—Christian Hoover, Esq., of Lewistown, has been named, through a communication in the Harrisburg Telegraph, as a candidate for State Treasurer. In the event of the Legislature failing to elect the gentleman presented by this county, we would as soon see Mr. Hoover obtain the office as any other man spoken of. But we go for Lloyd first, last, and all the time, and hope his friends will do the same.

Godey's Lady's Book.—If Godey ever excelled himself in his life, he did it in his invaluable Book for January. He made large promises, but he was fully competent to fulfil them. He goes on improving steadily, year after year, and generally keeps about one year ahead of all contemporaries. What he does this year, some one will be imitating next year.—Godey has no successful rival, and while he holds the sway over the ladies which a long life of devotion to their interests has secured him, he can have none.—Price of the Lady's Book $3,00. We will furnish it for $2,00.

Mrs. Stowe's New Serial.—The reading public will be glad to learn that the story entitled "The Minister's Wooing," commenced in the Atlantic Monthly, for December, is from the pen of Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe; and that portions of it will appear from month to month until it is completed. The story is marked by all the characteristics of style and spirit which have made the author's former works so famous. The scene is laid in New England, immediately after the Revolution—the period when all that was most simple, quaint, and peculiar in character and manner, was in full force.

Great Republic Monthly.—The first number of this new publication has been received, and comes fully up to the promises of the publishers. It contains more matter than any other periodical published, notwithstanding it is furnished at $2,00 per year. It contains a great number of engravings, illustrative of the scenes spoken of in the reading matter, is more varied than that of any other monthly, and adapts itself to the wants of every class. The Republici is destined to have a wide circulation when its merits are fully known. Oaksmith & Co., Publishers, New York.

The Presidency.—A few days since we received a copy of the Pittsburg Commercial Journal, with a card, recommending William. H. Seward for President, marked. It intended to be copied and endorsed, we decline, as we are decidedly opposed to the nomination of an ultra man, from North or South, for that high and responsible office. If it was merely desired that we should notice the fact through the Tribune, which will no doubt advance Mr. Seward's claims, we consider that we have done so, and make no charge therefor.

President's Message.—We presume that those of our readers who wish to read the President's Message, have, ere this time, received it through some of the papers in which it has been published, therefore we have not burdened our columns with it. The fact is, our Presidents have got to spinning out such long yarns, that the columns of country papers will hardly contain them, and one half, if not more, of the people have quit reading them.

Arthur's Home Magazine.—The January number of this excellent Monthly is on our table, containing quite a number of good engravings and the usual amount of first-class reading matter.—There is no more worthy publication of its size in the country. We will furnish it to any of our subscribers at the low price of $1,25.

☞ The campaign of 1860, as far as Pennsylvania is concerned, will probably be one of the most exciting that has ever transpired. In addition to President and Vice President, a Governor will be elected, and the Legislature chosen then will have to elect a United States Senator.

Convicted of Manslaughter.—The trial of young Arentrue, indicted for the murder of a young man named Beamish, near Johnstown, last summer, came off at Ebensburg last week. The jury returned a verdict of manslaughter.

"Conscience Makes Cowards of Us All."

On Friday last, a middle aged and apparently hard working man, who gave his name as Peter Martin, appeared at the police office in St. Louis, and stated that he had committed a murder, and wished to be taken into custody. The St. Louis Herald says: He states that about six weeks ago he left Cincinnati for St. Louis. At Cairo he took passage on a New Orleans boat bound upward, and in due time arrived in this city. The day before his arrival here, while on a drunk with another deck passenger, whose name he does not remember, he was robbed by him of all he possessed. He endeavored, as he alleges, for twenty-four hours to induce the man to return him his money, but finding all efforts to accomplishing that end unsuccessful, he determined shortly after the arrival of the boat at St. Louis wharf to revenge himself upon him. Borrowing a sheath knife from another passenger, he waited upon the starboard guard of the boat till his victim went to pass him, when he stabbed him to the heart. As he fell he pushed him overboard, and instantly threw the knife after him, and left the boat. Since that time, he states, he has been wandering in various parts of Illinois, between Cairo and this city, unable to work, unable to sleep, haunted constantly by the image of the murdered man. Unable longer to endure it, he determined upon delivering himself up to justice, and accordingly presented himself at the police office, as above stated. He was sent to the calaboose.

Farmers' High School of Pennsylvania.

A meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Farmers' High School of Pennsylvania, met this day at Harrisburg, present, His Excellency Wm. F. Packer, Hon. Wm. M. Heister, Joshua P. Eyre, J. McK. Snodgrass, Hon. James Miles, Hon. A. O. Heister, H. N. McAllister, Esq., President; the following proceedings were had in relation to the admission of pupils.

ORDERED BY THE BOARD:

That the Institution shall open on the third Wednesday in February, and shall close on the third Wednesday in December of year.

Students will be admitted on the following conditions.

First—They must not be under the age of 16 years.

Second—They must be qualified, by possessing, at least a good knowledge of reading, writing, Geography, Arithmetic and Grammar; and an acquaintance with the elements of Natural Philosophy, Geometry and Algebra, will be an additional claim to admission.

Third—They must present satisfactory evidence of good moral character, and industrious habits; and must pledge themselves to observe the rules and regulations of the Institution; among which will be the following:—

All students will be required to perform every description of labor necessary at the Institution, whether on the farm, in the shops, or at or about the College buildings; and three hours of active labor may be required each day, but no more, unless upon some special exigency.

All kinds of labor will be equally honored, and excellence therein will constitute a ground of merit, equally with proficiency in other branches of study and practice.

Applications for the admission of one hundred students from the different counties of the State, in proportion to their taxable inhabitants (ratio 5796), will be received up to the 15th of January, 1859, and must be made through the constitutional officers of the County Agricultural Societies; and where such societies do not exist or fail to present, by the applicants directly. All applications to be addressed to Wm. G. Waring, Farm School Post-office, Centre County, Penn'a. In case of the failure of applications from any county, the vacancy will be filled by the Board of Trustees, from the surplus applicants of other counties.

One hundred dollars paid in advance, shall be the charge for tuition, boarding, washing, fuel, light and books, for each session of ten months.

Students should bring, besides their ordinary apparel, comfortable clothing, suitable for farm work, to be worn only when at work.

It is important that all students be present at the commencement of the session. No deductions can be made upon the sum required to be paid. By order of the Board,

FRED'K. WATTS, President.

The Pacific Railroad.

The bill which was introduced by Mr. Curtis, in the House of Representntives, to secure the construction of a central Pacific Railroad, provides for branches from two points on the navigable waters of the Mississippi river—one opposite to Iowa, and the other opposite to Missouri—the two branches to converge and unite within two hundred miles of the Missouri river, and thence run to the navigable waters of the Sacramento The usual appropriations of the alternate sections within six miles are to be appropriated, and Government is to appropriate the contracters twelve thousand dollars a mile, to be reimbursed to the Goverament in transportation of mails and stores. The construction to be offered by the President to the best bidder, as proposed by Senator Gwin's bill.—This plan starts at the outer rim of our present railroad connections, and terminates on the navigable waters in the centre of California population. It is claimed that it would be equally convenient to slave and free States—to the North and South—and for connections with all our Pacific Territories. It would follow the emigrant route up the Platte, through Utah, and be about sixteen or eighteen hundred miles long. The bill was referred to the select committee on the subject of the Pacific Railroad, which was revived for the purpose of its consideration.

☞ A safe has been invented which locks on the inside, and leaves no keyhole or other opening. A clock work within opens it at an hour regulated by being set before the door is shut. The above is going the rounds as something new, but the fact is, that a safe of this character was invented a number of years ago by Mr. Weiss, an ingenious watch-maker at Bethlehem, Pa. We had the pleasure of examining the model made by him, on a visit to that pleasant Moravian town, not long since. It is really a very curious invention, though Mr. Weiss has never brought it prominently before the public.

A Negro for Representative.—An election for representative, to fill the place of Wm. Chase, resigned, took place in Portland, Maine, on the 18th inst. Neal Dow, the great temperance and negro-equality champion, and a colored man named Peter Francis, were the principal competitors. There being but an indifferent selection of candidates, comparatively few votes were cast, but the people generally preferred the white man to the Republican of a darker shade, and so "temperance and freedom" triumphed by 772 majority.

Very Narrow Escape.—Henry Aldrich was buried six or eight feet deep in a well which he was engoged in digging, at Vergennes, Michigan. The laborers employed to assist him in the work left him, and went two miles to inform his family. Two of his sons at once repaired to the place, and, by manfully digging, they excavated nearly to the boots of their buried father when the sides again caved in, burying him to the neck. They again set to work, and, after digging a while, drew the poor man out of his pants, boots, and the ground, at the same time. He was uninjured.

☞ The Minutes of the Methodist Episcopal Church North, just issued, show the following figures: Number of conferences, 49; Sunday schools, 11,490, Church members, 956,555, being an increase during the year 136,840; churches, 9,063; parsonages, 2,407; value of church edifices, 17,680,000; number of traveling preachers, 7,630. The Southern Church has a membership of 6,55,000; 2,434 traveling, and 4,907 local preachers. Total Methodist membership, North and South, 1,662,332.

Making a Fuss About it.—The Liverpool papers are making a great noise about paupers being shipped to Liverpool from America. The paupers sent back were first sent here from Europe. They are sent back to Liverpool as the port from which they are shipped from all parts of Europe to American cities. If Liverpool does not want them back, it has only got to take measures to prevent their being shipped at that port for America.

Fatal Results from Prize-Fighting.—We see it stated that so far as modern history extends, there have been thirty-one men killed in prize-fights—most of them in England. In only one of them was a verdict of "wilful murder" found—and that was against every one concerned in the fight. There are many instances where principals and parties to them have been fined and imprisoned.

THE LIVER INVIGORATOR

PREPARED BY DR. ASHFORD,

COMPOUNDED ENTIRELY FROM GUMS,

Is one of the best Purgative and Liver Medicines ever before the public, that acts as a Cathartic, easier, milder and more effectual than any other medicine known. It acts not only a Cathartic, but a Liver remedy, acting first on the bowels to carry off that matter, thus accomplishing two purposes effectually, without any of the painful feelings experienced in the operations of most Cathartics. It strengthens the system at the same time that it purges it, and when taken daily in moderate doses, will strengthen and build it up with unusual rapidity.

The Liver is one of the principal regulators of the human body; and when it performs its functions well, the powers of the system are fully developed. The stomach is almost entirely dependent on the healthy action of the Liver for the proper performance of its functions; when the stomach is at fault, and the whole system suffers in consequence of one organ—the Liver—having ceased to do its duty. For the disease of that organ, one of the proprietors has made it his study, in a practice of more than twenty years, to find some remedy wherein such a derangements to which it is liable.

To prove that this remedy is sufficient to relieve the person troubled with Liver Complaint, in any of its forms, has but to try a bottle, and conviction is sure to follow.

These Gums remove all morbid or bad matter from the system, supplying in their place a healthy bile, invigorating the digestive stomach, causing food to make healthy BLOOD, giving loca motion to the machinery, removing the cause, and effecting a radical cure.

Bilious Attacks are cured, and, what is more, by the occasional use of the Liver Invigorator.

PREVENTED, by the occasional use of the Liver Invigorator.

One dose after eating is sufficient to relieve the most distressing Nightmare, from rising and souring.

Only one dose taken before retiring, prevents morbid or bad matter from Nightmare.

Only one dose taken at night, loosens the bowels gently, and cures Costiveness.

One dose taken after each meal will cure Dyspepsia.

One dose of two teaspoonful will always relieve Sick Headache.

One bottle taken for female obstruction removes the cause of the disease, and makes a perfect cure.

Only one dose immediately relieves Cholic, while it is a sure cure for Cramp of Cholera.

One dose often repeated needed to throw out of medicine after a long sickness.

Jaundice removes all sallowness from the skin.

One dose taken a short time before eating gives vigor to the appetite, and makes the food digest well.

One dose often repeated cures Chronic Diarrhœa, Rumor and Bowel complaints.

Its worst forms, while Sumyield almost to the first dose.

One or two doses cures attacks caused by Worms in children: there is no surer, safer, or speedier remedy in the world, as it never fails.

A few bottles cures Dropsy by exciting the absorbents to action.

We take pleasure in recommending the medicine as a preventive for Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all Fevers of a Bilious type, It operates with certainty, and thousands are willing to testify to its wonderful virtues.

All who use it are giving their unanimous testimony in its favor.

☞ Mix Water in the mouth with the Invigorator, and swallow both together.

THE LIVER INVIGORATOR

IS A SCIENTIFIC MEDICAL DISCOVERY, and is daily working cures, almost too great to believe. It cures nearly by magic, even the first dose giving benefit, and seldom more than one bottle is required to cure any kind of Liver Complaint, from the worst Jaundice or Dyspepsia to a common Headache, all of which are the result of a Diseased Liver.

PRICE ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.

SEASONABLE HINTS FOR BUSINESS MEN.—We have published many articles, lately, bearing directly upon the necessity of business men advertising their business. By so doing, it may be said, we are laboring to benefit ourselves.—Certainly we are, but at the same time, we consider that the advertisement of the business man would be of more value to him than the price of its insertion would be to us. One business will generally build up another, and so it should. If merchants will advertise with us it will build us up, and in return they will be built up through us. We commend the following article, from the Harrisburg Telegraph, to those who do not advertise:—

Our business men should embrace the present time, above all others, to make extensive use of that infallable panacea for hard times—"printer's ink." The harvest and fall work is over, and farmers and others throughout the country are about to lay in their supply of clothing, furniture, groceries, in short all the necessaries of the Winter season. Of course they will not purchase without looking around them to see where they can expend their money to the best advantage—and hence if advertisements are published in the newspaper, or cards and posters printed and circulated, the buying community will read them and be greatly governed by their contents. Those merchants who do thus advertise get, in consequence, the best trade the country affords—particularly that trade which brings CASH. The wise business man, therefore, looks upon this matter from a common sense standard. He should consider that in these days of newspapers, a proper system and degree of advertising is just as necessary as a store-room to contain his goods, or the sign over his door which conveys to passers by the name of the proprietor. It is not a luxury to be indulged in when business is more than ordinarily prosperous—it is a necessity at all times, but decidedly so in times of inactive trade.—The experience of eminent and successful merchants has demonstrated the truth of this assertion in hundreds of instances. And it is but natural that it should be so. A bold, readable, wide-awake advertisement in a public journal, or in the shape of cards or circulars, shows that there is some life—some business activity—some progressive talent in the advertiser, which even in the dullest times attracts attention, and is the means of giving him a popularity profitable as well as pleasant. This feature of business is well understood by some men engaged in trade—by others it is not. Other things being equal, the results of the operations of the two classes are very perceptibly favorable to the former. Particularization is unnecessary—what we state is a fact known to every man of common intelligence, and clearly observable in every community, our own as well as others.

WHAT WE SAW IN CHURCH.—We do not profess to be as pious as we should be, but we are possessed of one of the "evidences of piety"—a fondness of attending public worship—and when we go to church, we do it to enjoy the singing, the prayers and the preaching; but we are sorry to say that there are those who will not permit us to so enjoy ourself, at least such was our experience on Sunday week, at the Methodist Church, in this place. During the reading of the first hymn, we saw seated at our left hand, two la—(not ladies—we don't know what to call them,) whispering to each other—no doubt making remarks upon their neighbors' bonnets or dresses. We were so annoyed that all the sentiment of the hymn, and even the page, were lost to us, and our enjoyment destroyed. Then, while the minister was reading the morning lesson, our pleasure was again marred by the shallow-brained actions of two young lads in front of us. A young clerk in a store in town, who evidently considers himself a pattern of respectability and fashion (he may come up to the latter, but his actions bring him far below par in the former,) was engaged hunching a companion at every sentence of the lesson, which, to his corrupt mind, appeared exceptionable in modesty of language; and this annoyed us exceedingly. When the sermon was commenced, "certainly," thought we, "nothing will transpire to annoy us—fear of being under the notice of the wandering eye of the preacher will curb all indiscretions of the brainless." But we were doomed to disappointment. While drinking in a sublime thought from inspired lips, our whole mental being chained in perfect submissiveness to the controlling power of the orator, the spell was broken, by the monkey-shines—absolute monkey-shines—of a human being (in form—not act) within the range of our eye, and this offender was the well-trained son of one of our most respectable citizens. We were shocked! We could pardon, in some measure, the brainless apes who had annoyed us before, but for this person, who should have known better, and done better, in consideration of his acknowledged good sense, was unpardonable. We left the church, at the close of the services, in no good humor, we assure you, reader; and while we ate our dinner on that day, we determined to let the public know first of the actions of the persons who aggrieved us so deeply, and if that would not serve to put an end to their evil and detestable interruptions of God's worship, to give their names the next time.

MRS. KING'S SELECT SCHOOL.—Mrs. King would inform her friends and the public, that her next term of school will open on Monday, December 20th. Those who have confided their daughters to her, and others who may wish to do so may be assured of her continued desire, and, as she hopes, increased ability, to impart to her pupils a substantial, useful, accomplished and christian education. She has the aid of a teacher of acknowledged talent, and it will be their aim to contribute as much as possible to the personal happiness, as well as moral and intellectual improvement of those committed to their care.

Terms from $3 to $5 per quarter. A reduction of five per cent. will be made if paid in advance.

HORSE STOLEN.—The horse theives are about again. On Thursday night last, a fine horse belonging to Jacob Nofsker, residing in Freedom township, was stolen from his stable. The Horse Company of which Mr. N. is a member immediately started men in every direction, but they found no trace of the theif. Farmers will do well to secure their stables with the stoutest padlocks they can procure, since the terrors of the law appear to have no effect in checking these rascals in their depredations.—Register.

DISTINGUISHED PASSENGER.—Yesterday morning, John C. Heenan, the "Benicia Boy," who gave Morrissey such an awful pummelling on the first round in the late fight for the championship of America, passed through this place, on the Express Train, en route for Pittsburgh, where he and his celebrated trainer, Aaron Jones, who preceded him by the Fast Line, on Monday night, gave a sparring exhibition last evening. In our opinion he comes fully up to all that has been said about his dimensions, and we believe that a stroke from his "south paw" would make the stars fly and give a fellow a slight headache. He is a much better looking man than we had imagined to find him, notwithstanding, there is a determined, bull-dog look about his countenance, which indicates one born to the science in which he has became so proficient, and who could endure an awful amount of punishment without flinching.—None of our "sparers" evinced a desire to have a friendly "set-to" with him and he was consequently permitted to pass without giving us an exhibition of his skill. Although no notice of his coming had been given, the news of his arrival spread rapidly and ere the train moved off, the avanue in front of the Logan House was well filled.

MORE PANTRY THIEVING.—This business is now carried on so extensively in this place, that it may be set down as a regular business, and considered one of our "institutions." Within the last couple of weeks, quite a number of cellars and pantries have been relieved of their contents, and always on Friday or Saturday nights, showing conclusively that the persons engaged in this business, which is generally wholesale, know when the Sunday preparations are made and a goood lot of bread, cakes, pies, butter, &c., is on hand. The cellars of our clever friends, Joe Hileman and Joe Adlum, have received professional visits from some of the gentlemen, and in both cases the proprietors were relieved of all articles in store, in the eatable line, which required no cooking. Can not something be done to put a stop to this business? The robberies are often daring, sometimes visiting the same places twice in succession. Our citizens should be careful in securing their premises against these night prowlers, who may become emboldened by their many undetected depredations on pantries and cellars, and begin to look for something more valuable.

MILITARY ELECTION.—An election for Brigade Inspector, to fill the unexpired term of Maj. John C. Innes, dec'd, came off at the armories of the different companies in this county, on Saturday last, and resulted in the election of Adj. J. C. Osterlob, of the Hollidaysburg Fencibles, over Lieut. J. R. McFarlane, also of the Fencibles, and Capt. Jas. Bell, of the Tyrone Artillery. The Register gives the following which it says is the official vote:—

☞ We have received an awful long communication, over the awful signature of "Pennaphilopcennus," entitled "Our thoughts by reading 'Philopena,'" meaning an article under that caption which appeared in our paper a short time since. In the communication the writer complains that the author of the first article did not give the proper derivation of the word, and bungled the German and Latin horribly. Well, he may have done so, for aught we known, but he could not have made a worse fist of those languages than "Pennaphilopcennus" did of the English. For the reason that we have no time to make English of the affair, and if we had it is too long for the subject, together with the fact that the author forgot to give his or her name, we decline publishing it, and have carefully filed it away in our cabinet of curiosities.

A NOVEL INVENTION.—As a number of young men will persist in grinding tobacco in church, it is proposed to get up a large flask, to be placed in the breast pocket, with a funnel or tube in the same, to receive the product of the mill, which they can carry home with them and empty out on their mother's parlor carpet or cleanly scrubbed floor, instead of leaving it in the corners of the pews. We hope the invention may be speedily got up and patented, and every storekeeper in town made an agent for its sale. Let the ladies be on the look out, and when they observe a gentleman with a full breasted coat, they may calculate that he has a "hopper" in his bosom.

GOOD FLOUR.—Since we have lived in Altoona, we have had some good and some very bad flour, but the best, decidedly the best, we have ever had in our house, was made at the new Steam Mill, in this place, a few days since. Better bread than that made from the flour from the Steam Mill, we have never eaten, and we are certain we never wish better. Although the flour was made from common red wheat, the bread is exceedingly white and very easily made. We have heard many complain of the flour made at this Mill, and not without cause, but they should remember that it was new, and of course could not be regulated so as to make the very best flour from the first. It is now, however, in capital order, turning out as good flour as can be manufactured in the country, and will, we think, give universal satisfaction.

RARE PRESENT.—The Carlisle American states that a three year old Buck, weighing 200 lbs., was expressed to the proprietor of the Washington Hotel, in that place, from Tyrone city, having been killed on some of the mountains in this county. It appeared to be quite a curiosity to the citizens of Carlisle. Such animals are not curiosities in this "neck o' timber," although they are much oftener seen than captured. We know a hunter now out, who is on the track of a couple of bucks that will weigh in the neighborhood of the amount stated above, and we shall be disappointed if he does not succeed in capturing at least one of them.

☞ Reader, is there not some being who by the affinity of spirit, the laws of eternity permit you to cherish and truly to call friend?—Would it not be a high and holy gratification, where that being has passed out of your natural sight into the Spirit Lands, to have an image of the earthly appearance of that dear one? Parents, is it not a duty you owe to your children, to leave them this image to gratify this noble passion? How often do we hear the exclamation, where persons are viewing portraits, "I would not value any sum if I could but procure the portraits of my departed parents or children." Reader, if you are gifted with that enobling feeling of unity, you have an opportunity now to gratify it, at a small cost, by procuring portraits which it is known will not fade, at the Ambrotype room of J. W. Claubaugh. See advertisement.

DENTISTRY.—In another column will be found the card of Dr. S. Kimmell, of Hollidaysburg, Operative and Mechanical Dentist, to which the attention of our readers is directed. Dr. K. enjoys the reputation of being a skillful practitioner in his line, and we doubt not will render full satisfaction to all who entrust him with their work. He promises to do work as cheap as any other dentist in the county, and deduct the fare, from this place to Hollidaysburg, from all work done for persons in this place, when the amount is over five dollars.

ACCIDENT.—On Sabbath last, as the family of Seth R. M'Cune Esq., who resides near town, were returning home from Church in their family carriage, one of the horses became unmanageable, backing the carriage over an embankment and upsetting it, to the imminent peril of the life and limbs of those inside. Fortunately, however, they all escaped serious injury, save his eldest daughter. Miss Elizabeth, who received a severe hurt in the face.—Register.

TOILET FOR GENTLEMEN.—For preserving the complexion—temperance. To preserve the breath sweet—abstinence from tobacco. For whitening the hands—honesty. To remove a stain—repentance. Easy shaving soap—ready money For improving the sight—observation. A beautiful ring—a family circle. For improving the voice—civility. The best companion at the toilet—a wife.

A. Y. M.—The following gentlemen have been elected the officers of Mountain Lodge, No. 281, for the ensuing Masonic year—viz:—W. M., George B. Cramer, S. W., John McConnell; I. W., William Boyden; Treasurer, John Shoemaker; Secretary, Benj. F. Rose.

☞ "Whistling Jack," after having whistled himself in and out of jail several times and in and out of several towns, has at last whistled himself into winter quarters at the County Poor House.

☞ A little son of John Schuberts, in Bush Mountain, was severly burned on Friday last, by his clothes taking fire from a stove.

A GOOD CERTIFICATE.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18th, 1858.

DR. KEYSER:—Although not an advocate of Patent Medicines, in general, it affords me pleasure indescribable to recommend your Pectoral Syrup. As a medicine it is well worthy the attention of any person who may in any manner be effected with colds, cough and hoarseness of any kind; and for its peculiar qualifications for removing all that dissagreeable sensation attending a severe cold. I have been, more or less, in my life afflicted with the severest colds and hoarseness. At times my throat would become so closed as to prevent my speaking above a whisper, and by taking a few doses of the above Syrup, it would relieve me entirely. In recommending this medicine, I must unhesitatingly say, that it is the best remedy I ever found, purporting to cure the above, nor should any family be without this remedy for diseases so prevalent.

Yours, most respectfully,
EDWARE D. JONES.

THE PANIC—MORE FAILURES.—The panic in New York seems to be on the increase. In this city everything goes on smoothly, and the only failures we have heard of were the failures to furnish good fits made by some inferior clothing establishments. There is no such difficulty to be encountered by those who patronize the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chesnut street, above sixth. Gentlemen and Youths never fail to procure capital fits at this popular establishment.

☞ See advertisement of Dr. Sandford's LIVER INVIGORATOR in another column.

THE HALL OF FASHION is still open, and the Proprietor, in returning thanks to his numerous customers for their liberal patronage bestowed on him since his commencement, here desires to say (without fear of contradiction) that he is prepared to offer for their inspection the best assortment of handsome DRESS GOODS, SHAWLS, CLOAKS, WHITE GOODS, &c., &c., that can be found in Altoona.

Respectfully, &c., C. J. MANN.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.—While the President, in his Message, rather advises a specific duty on Foreign Goods whenever practicable, CHARLEY MANN advocates only a small advalorum duty on all Goods, both Foreign and Domestic, he offers for sale,

CRANBERRIES AND MINCE MEAT, prime articles, just received at

C. J. MANN'S.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Dalley's Magical Pain Extractor.

In all diseases inflammation more or less predominates—now to allay inflammation strikes at the root of disease—hence an immediate cure.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR, and nothing else, will allay inflammation at once, and make a certain cure.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR will cure the following among a great catalogue of diseases: Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Chafes, Sore Nipples, Corns, Bunions, Bruises, Sprains, Bites, Poison, Chilblains, Piles, Scrofula, Ulcers, Fever Sores, Felons, Ear Ache, Piles, Sore Eyes, Gout, Swellings, Rheumatism, Scald Head, Salt Rheum, Baldness, Erysipelas, Ringworm, Barbers' Itch, Small Pox, Measles, Rash, &c., &c.

To some it may appear incredulous that so many diseases should be reached by one article; such an idea will vanish when reflection points to the fact, that the salve is a combination of ingredients, each and every one applying a perfect antidote to its opposite disorder.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR In its effects is magical, because the time is so short between disease and a permanent cure; and it is an extractor, as it draws all disease out of the affected part, leaving nature as perfect as before the injury. It is scarcely necessary to say that no house, work-shop, or manufactory should be one moment without it.

No Pain Extractor is genuine unless the box has upon it a steel plate engraving, with the name of Henry Dalley, Manufacturer.

Sold by G. W. Kessler, Altoona; George A. Jacobs, Hollidaysburg; and by all the Druggists and patent medicine dealers throughout the United States and Canadas.

NEW MEDICAL SALT! NEW MEDICAL SALT!
IT IS NOT A CURE-ALL.
For Inflammatory Diseases Only!

DR. COGGSWELL'S NEW MEDICAL SALT, instead of being a remedy for all ills, has control over but one ill, has but one aim, and accomplishes but one thing, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE, whatever be its form or locality, whether in the head, throat, abdomen, extremities or skin.

The peculiar excellence of the NEW MEDICAL SALT is, that without the useless loss of blood and strength, it effectually cures INFLAMMATORY DISEASES (no other) by producing an equilibrium of all the fluids in the body, the want of which is the sole cause of inflammation.

INVALIDS, TAKE NOTICE!! The following forms which the unbalanced fluids assume, and many not here mentioned, that have more or less fever, are as easily subdued by the NEW MEDICAL SALT, as fire is extinguished by water, to wit: Brain Fever, Headache, Rush of Blood to the Head and Heart, Fits, Inflamed Eyes, Ears and Nose, Canker, Neuralgia, Spinal Affections, Erysipelas, Bronchitis, Pleurisy, Asthma, Inflamed Lungs and Liver, Heartburn, Coughs, Dyspepsia, Venereal Diseases, Rheumatism, Gout, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, and all Itching and other cutaneous eruptions.

DR. COGGSWELL'S NEW MEDICAL SALT exerts, like the vaccine matter, an extraordinary influence on the veins and arteries, resulting in a gradual decline of inflammation as indicated by the pulse, which soon resumes its natural state, as the heat, pain and fever disappear.

DR. COGGSWELL'S NEW MEDICAL SALT does just what it claims to do—no more, no less—equalizes the fluids, by removing from the system all arterial and venous obstructions. Description circulars may be obtained from any Druggist who has this valuable medicine for sale.

MORE THAN 500,000 BOTTLES
SOLD IN THE
NEW ENGLAND STATES
IN ONE YEAR.

The Restorative of Prof. O. J. Wood for Restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

☞ The Hair.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request, that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is now covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Phila.

Coshocton, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hackinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some State in the West, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being fully convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell. Yours truly,

S. T. STOCKMAN.

Wayland, Mass., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.,—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as grey, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly three bottles.

Yours &c.,
JAMES FRANCIS.

THE CELEBRATED HOLLAND REMEDY FOR

DYSPEPSIA,
DISEASE OF THE KIDNEYS,
LIVER COMPLAINT,
WEAKNESS OF ANY KIND
FEVER AND AGUE,

And the various affections consequent upon a disordered STOMACH OR LIVER.

Such as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colicky Pains, Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, Giddiness, Blind and Bleeding Piles. In all Nervous, Rheumatic and Neuralgic Affections, it has in numerous instances proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decided cure.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Boerhave: Because of its great success in the most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medical virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Gathrally instantaneous in effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor in the system.

CAUTION.—The great popularity of this delightful Aroma has induced many imitations, which the public should guard against purchasing. Be not persuaded to buy anything else until you have given Boerhave's Holland Bitters a fair trial. One bottle will convince you how infinitely superior it is to all these imitations.

HAMMONTON LANDS IN NEW ENG-

LAND SETTLEMENT—RARE OPPORTUNITY. To all wanting Farms in a healthy place, twenty-four miles from Philadelphia, on the Camden and Atlantic railroad, New Jersey. 40 old settler lots recently been opened for sale, and the first division of Model acres divided up into farms of twenty acres and upwards. The soil is of the best quality for the production of fruits, grains, &c. The price is $25 to $30 per acre, payable in easy quarterly yearly instalments. Also, a farm of four years, with houses. The farms are made ready in order to insure the rapid improvement of the land, by enabling every industrious man to buy a farm. It is now being extensively improved by good roads, and some of the best settlers from New England and the Middle States are opening large improvements. It is a scene of the greatest improvement east of Philadelphia.—Seventy-five houses have been built in four months. Practical farmers and business men from the length and breadth of the Union are settling there. It is an important business place, on account of its being in the midst of a great market.

Every settler raised upon this land finds an immediate sale. The water is excellent, and no such thing as fever is known.

The soil is a sandy or clay loam, with a clay bottom and connection of manure. It is free of stone and easily worked. It abounds largely in the phosphates, and such is its fertility that from the crops produced both upon this land and the large area adjoining under cultivation, it will be found not to be exceeded anywhere in the production of crops most cultivated to the market.

The reader may be well aware that the earliest and the best fruits and vegetables come from New Jersey, which are annually exported to the amount of millions of dollars. The land, besides being accessible in every way for farmers, has an abundant supply of the best quality of marle manure.

Lumber and building materials can be had on the spot at a cheap price, from the mills. Other mills are now being opened, and brickyards being started on the ground. A person can put up a frame house for the present current store for one hundred dollars. On account of the extensive emigration, this is the best course to pursue in order to get a place to live in at first. Carpenters and builders are on hand to put up houses on the best terms.

In settling here the emigrant has many advantages. He is within a few hours' ride of the great cities of the Middle States and New England: he is near his old friends and associations; he is in a settled country, where every improvement and comfort of civilization is at hand; he is in a healthy place, and is not subject to the certainty of losing the greater part of his family and his own health by those malignant fevers which make the graves of so many settlers of the young and and hardy in the far off regions away from home and friends. Besides, he has a mild climate and an open winter.

There are three trains daily to Philadelphia, and to all those who improve the railroad company gives a free ticket.

The reader will at once be struck with the advantages here presented, and ask himself why the property has not been taken up before. The reason is, it was never known to the market; and unless these statements were correct no one would be invited to examine the land before purchasing. This all are expected to do. They will see the land under cultivation; they will meet persons, no doubt, from their own neighborhood; they will see the improvements, and can judge of the character of the population. Persons should come prepared to purchase, as many are locating, and locations are not held on refusal.

The Hammonton Nursery, a monthly Literary and Agricultural sheet, containing full information of Hammonton will be sent to each enquirer, and can be obtained at 25 cts per annum.

Title indisputable. Warrantee deeds given, clear of all incumbrance, to those purchasing to settle. Route to the land—Leave Vine street wharf, Philadelphia, for Hammonton, by railroad, at 7½ A. M., and 5½ P. M.; when there inquire for Mr. Byrnes. Boarding conveniences will be found. Letters and applications can be addressed to E. B. COUGHLIN, 202 South FIFTH Street, below Walnut, Philadelphia. Maps and information cheerfully furnished.

SUFFERING HUMANITY, READ

THIS.—The undersigned takes this method of informing the public generally that there is no medicine now offered to the public that is equal to DU VALL'S GALVANIC OIL in relieving suffering humanity.

I was an observer of its effects on a friend of mine, who suffered almost everything from a neuralgic affection which resisted the best medical treatment in Centre county. We applied freely the Galvanic Oil to the painful part, and gave some inwardly, and in 20 minutes the pati-nt was asleep and when awakened was free from pain and continued so. This is a positive fact which I am willing to make good at any time. A case of Felon was cured in nearly the same length of time. J. H. HAHN,

GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN COOK-

ING STOVES.

CONSUMPTION OF SMOKE AND GAS AND SAVING OF FUEL.

The subscriber takes pleasure in offering to the public a NEW GAS AND SMOKE CONSUMING

Cooking Stove, recently patented, which is destined to supersede all others, as it requires

ONE-THIRD LESS FUEL

than other stoves and is more easily, quickly and regularly heated. No unpleasant smell of gas arises from the stove from the fact that it is all consumed ere it escapes. There is no trouble from smoke as that people and often annoying exhalation is also consumed in the stove. Neither is there any danger of fires or persons becoming clogged with soot or the mortar loosened, as the gas arising from coal fires.

Persons wishing to purchase stoves are invited to call at the store of the subscriber, in the Masonic Temple, and examine the above stoves.

GREAT DISCOVERY OF THE AGE

RELATIVE TO

TOBACCO CHEWERS.

DR. GUSTAV LISNARD'S TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES, the great Substitute for Tobacco.

It is a well known and incontrovertible fact that the use of Tobacco is the commanding cause of many of the most severe to which the race of man is subject, as medical analysis and long and painful experience have clearly proven that it contains certain narcotic and poisonous properties most dangerous in their effects, which by exciting into the blood deranges the functions and operations of the Heart, causing many to suppose that organ to be seriously diseased.

MENTAL AND PHYSICAL DISORDERS

TOBACCO affects also the entire nervous system, manufacturing Snuff—as all who have ever used the medicine would freely will bear testimony—in Insomnia, Nervous Irritability, Water Brash, Dyspepsia, and many other disorders of a similar character.

THE TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES

Are designed to counteract these baneful influences, and have proved completely successful in a multitude of cases, and wherever used. Being harmless in themselves they exert a beneficial effect upon the entire system, rendering the Taste which has become vitiated or destroyed by great indulgence, completely removing the irritation and accompanying tickling sensation of the Throat—which are always consequent upon abstaining from the use of Tobacco, and by giving a healthy tone to the Stomach, invigorate the whole system.

These Troches of Lozenges are put up in a convenient and portable form at the low price of 50 Cents per Box. A liberal discount to the Trade.

Prepared solely by the undersigned to whom all orders should be addressed.

INTENSE EXCITEMENT!—

McCORMICK'S NEW GOODS HAVE ARRIVED AND ARE NOW BEING OPENED FOR INSPECTION AND SALE.

"Hallos, neighbor, I'm here on the ground again. Perhaps you recollect when I last year, asked you to hold my horse a moment and tell me where the CHEAP STORE was. But it is different now. It remains me a little of the campaign of 1840, when Gen. Harrison was elected President. You have only to go with the crowd and you will have no difficulty in finding McCORMICK'S STORE. From the excitement down the valley, and the quantity of goods I see carried away, they must be selling off very rapidly and very cheap.

"You are right, my friend; I would say to you, sir, go ahead and your anticipations will be fully realized. He has a very large and well selected assortment of Goods. He'll sell you a dress for fifty cents and give the remainder the bargain, I'm told, and all other goods in proportion."
